Produce.

Peaches, mostly Iberian, were in good receipts, with prices unchanged, and the commission men were obtained up about as rapidly as they received the shipments.

Receipts of poultry are scarce with prices firm and advancing. Good hens are in request at full quotations.

The potato market is strong. The advance in California has not yet been added, but undoubtedly prices will advance ere long.

Houston reports as follows: Interco merchants will in the course of the next season or two be required to prepay express charges on all egg shipments made during the summer season, in spite of repeated warnings the country merchants continue to ship in eggs and the commission men, in some instances, are refusing to guarantee express charges. It would seem that when eggs are not the shipper would refuse to ship them. There is absolutely no sale for current receipts, and the shipper must money on every shipment he makes. At this season the cold storage eggs are fresh and are in good demand, while the shipments from the country are not wanted at any price.

There is no great change in the market. Prices are steady and the demand is very good.

Compound lard is stiff and the price will probably be advanced in the next few days.
